ROOFING SLATE!

TWIN CITY SLATE MINING

AND

MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

J. K. NEWMYER, S. H. ANDERSON, J. S. SHALLENBERGER,
President. Secretary. Superintendent.

OFFICE,

No. 13 Seventh Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is believed that the time has come in the progress of American architecture, when the question will no longer be asked, 'What shall we use for roofing?' but, 'WHERE CAN WE OBTAIN THE BEST SLATE.'—Older countries have long since established the fact, that no material is so well adapted, and so durable, as Slate for covering buildings. Two obstacles to its general use in this country have existed heretofore: first, the transition character of society, which is necessarily opposed to permanence in architecture and second, the great abundance and low price of lumber. The first impediment is rapidly yielding to time and riper ideas on the subject of building, and the other must soon give away to the scarcity and advancing price of lumber suitable for roofing purposes.

We submit a few leading advantages of a Slate roof:

It is superior to every other in appearance.
It is easily put on:
It saves Insurance!
It is fire proof.
It is imperishable.

The Twin City Slate Company's Mines are in Northampton County, Penn'a. The Slate is a beautiful dark blue, unchangeable in color, splits in perfectly smooth plates of any size required, and hardens steadily by exposure to the atmosphere. No Slate in the United States is superior to it, in all the qualities enumerated to a good roof, and we think but little equal to it. It is furnished at the yard in Pittsburgh, at the rate of $12.00 a square (one hundred square feet), which with expense of laying, will add about 25 per cent. to the cost of a shingle roof at present prices.

Samples of Slate may be seen, and orders left at the office of A. T. Shallenberger & Co., Rochester, Pa.

Parties at a distance, can address J. S. Newmyer, No. 43 Seventh street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.

BEAVER, April 29, 1868.

[ALL COMMUNICATIONS FOR THIS DEPARTMENT OF THE PAPER, MUST BE ADDRESSED TO G. L. EBERHART, NEW BRIGHTON, PA.]

Cleanliness.

Next to godliness is cleanliness in our estimation; and we maintain that the individual who does not possess this virtue, no matter what his natural or acquired abilities, is not properly qualified,—we had almost said not fit,—to fill the teacher's vocation.

If any person should be cleanly in all his habits, tidy in dress, and scrupulously neat in his general personal appearance, that person is the teacher; yet it is an indisputable fact that among teachers are found some of the most untidy individuals that can be found in any class.

We have seen teachers whose boots looked as though, notwithstanding they may have been worn six months or a year, they were utter strangers to brushes and blacking, and whose other articles of clothing appeared to be covered with the dust of an entire twelvemonth. Their schoolrooms had more the appearance of a station on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway than rooms for the training of immortal souls.

These things, my brethren, ought not so to be. We should, by our own habits and personal appearance, set an example of cleanliness and neatness to our pupils; and both by precept and example enforce such rules and regulations in our schools as shall lead those under our instruction to regard the schoolroom as well entitled to care and respect as their homes. The impression general obtains among both children and adults that public buildings have no immunity from filthy boots, obscene pencils, and wantonly defacing pocket-knives. This most erroneous and destructive impression should, and can, be obliterated by the potent moral influence and persuasiveness of the teacher. Impress indelibly upon the youthful mind that no reason exists why the schoolroom and other public buildings should not be as clean and comfortable, and as free from abuse, as the rooms in which we sit and eat and sleep at home, and we shall undoubtedly see the day when our eyes and our sense of decency shall not be offended, as they are so frequently now, by obscene scrawls and caricatures on the walls and seats of almost every public edifice in the land.

This subject of cleanliness is one which every teacher is morally bound, we think, to keep continually before his pupils; and it can be dwelt upon and its usefulness inculcated in such a way as to give offence to no one—to neither pupil nor parent—and yet do much good.

This must be effected, as we have already intimated, as well by example as by precept. If the teacher appears in the schoolroom with dirty clothes, muddy, unpolished boots, carelessly combed hair, dirty hands, finger nails with dirt enough under each to start a cabbage plant, he will certainly be in no plight to preach a homily on neatness to his school.

Nor will he be prepared to enforce any very wholesome rules or truths, unless he be in everything pertaining to a gentleman—in his daily walk and conversation—an example which every one can imitate with profit.

It is the silent, unworded, unconscious influence which the true lady and gentleman is continually exerting upon those around, and especially upon the youthful mind, and is most potent and endurable; hence in every action the teacher should emit some bright spark which shall not only do something toward advancing the present interest of his pupils, but which shall go far toward fitting them for a proper discharge of all the duties of mature years.

Our Book Table.

Elements of Physical Geography: Together with a Treatise on the Physical Phenomena of the United States. By John Brocklesby, A. M. E. H. Butler & Co., Philadelphia, 1868.

This book has reached us through the kindness of the publishers; we have examined it, and we are free to say that it is one of the best of its kind. It is illustrated by one hundred and fifty beautiful engravings and thirteen excellent copper-plate maps. The mechanical execution of the work is faultless; and to the matter and its arrangements we can take no exceptions. To those who are seeking a text-book upon this very important and interesting subject, we cheerfully commend this work.

The National Readers. By Richard Greene Parker and J. Madison Watson. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York, 1868.

We have received copies of the Fourth and Fifth Readers of the revised edition of this series. Our examination of them has been thorough, and in comparison with five other series; and, taking them all in all, we must pronounce them the best readers we have seen.

The selections are in great part new and fresh, and of the most instructive and interesting character. We advise our fellow teachers to examine these Readers; and we especially commend them to all who are in quest of readers which, while they afford the best of matter for elocutionary training, can not fail to impart to pupils much valuable knowledge and inculcate many wholesome moral truths.

Ahn's New Practical and Easy Method of Learning the German Language. By J. C. Oehlschlager. E. Steiger, New York, 1868.

Comparing this work with others of a similar character and design, we are inclined to think it justly entitled to all its editor claims for it. The method by which it is arranged is undoubtedly practical and easy; and we think no work we have seen is better, if so well, adapted to those who wish, by private study to learn to read the German language. An Introductory French Reader, A French Grammar. To which is added a French, English, and Latin Vocabulary containing the most common words in French which are derived from Latin. By E. H. Magill, A. M. Crosbey, and Ainsworth, Boston, 1868.

The author of these works is a teacher in the Boston Latin School: and that he has brought both scholarship and careful and laborious effort to their preparation, is fully evinced in their subject-matter and its arrangement. The arrangement of both works is systematic and progressive, arbitrary and mechanical processes are avoided, and at every point we see all evident design to cultivate thought, and thus reach the great end and aim of all human instruction. The principals of the schools in this county, in which French is taught would do well to examine these excellent text-books.

Solutions of Problems.

No. 2, of March 18th.

The farmer intended to sell all his eggs at 8 cents per dozen, but in order to make up the value of the 9 doz. which he broke, he sold the remainder for 10 cents per dozen; that is for 2 cents per dozen more than he at first intended to sell them.

At 8 cents per dozen 9 dozen of eggs are worth 72 cents; which is the amount the farmer lost by the breaking of the 9 dozen. If then by increasing the price 2 cents on each dozen, he made up the loss of 72 cents, he must have sold as many dozen of eggs as 2 cents are contained times in 72 cents, equal 36, plus 9, the number of dozen broken, equal 45 dozen, the quantity of eggs he had when he started to market. Proof: 35 dozen at 10 cents per dozen equal 360 cents; 45 dozen at 8 cents per dozen equal 360 cents.

Of March 25th.

At 10 cents each 42 pine apples are worth 420 cents; then according to the conditions of the question, 60 cocoa nuts are worth 420 cents; hence 1 cocoa nut is worth 7 cents. 30 pine apples at 10 cents each are worth 300 cents; and, if 40 lemons are equal in value to 30 pine apples, 40 lemons are worth 300 cents; and 1 lemon is worth 1 fortieth of 300 cents, equal 300 fortieths, or 15 halves; and if 1 lemon is worth 15 halves cents 210 lemons are worth 210 times 15 halves, equal 3150 halves, equal 1575 cents. If then 1 cocoa nut is worth 7 cents, and 210 lemons are worth 1575 cents, as many cocoa nuts must be given for 210 lemons as 7 is contained times in 1575, equal 225.

Problems.

No. 1. A tree in falling broke into three unequal pieces; the top piece was 12 feet long, which was 1 ninth of the length of the other two pieces; and 4 times the length of the bottom piece equals the length of the other two pieces. How high was the tree, and how long was each piece?

No. 2. A man bought a cow, an ox, and a horse; the cow cost $30; the cow and ox together cost 4 times as much as the horse; and the ox and horse cost 5 times as much as the cow. What was the cost of the ox and horse each?

No. 3. One-third of A's sheep plus three-fourths of A's number of sheep equals many sheep has each, provided three-fourths of B's number is twice two-thirds of A's number?

No. 4. How many more apples, at the rate of 5 for 2 cents will it require to buy 400 lemons at the rate of 5 for 6 cents, than to buy 300 oranges at the rate of 6 for 5 cents?

The Grand Army of the Republic.

[From the Irish Republic.]

A correspondent sends us a communication in answer to some attacks on the Grand Army of the Republic.

Of the Grand Army, as an Organization we know nothing, not being members, and the society being sensible enough to keep its internal arrangements hid from the public eye. We do know that it is composed of some hundreds of thousands of the men who, when the Republic was in danger flew to her assistance. This knowledge is enough to satisfy us that the Grand Army of the Republic is an Organization that no man who loves liberty need question its patriotism.

We were under the impression that the Organization was but a continuation of the Grand Army that marched and conquered under Grant and Sherman, and that traced its name in letters of fire from Shiloh to the Wilderness, and that some far-seeing men had reorganized after the great muster-out at the supposed suppression of the rebellion, though that consummation has not been realized yet, to be held in readiness if any sudden danger should threaten the Republic. Oh, that great economical mistake of disbanding the original Army of the Republic when Lee surrendered. Penny wise and pound foolish. Had the army been retained and distributed over the Southern States until they were all in their ranks in the Union again, would it not have cost less in the end?

It was but natural to think that the re-organization of the Grand Army of the Republic had a political signification. For years its members had fought for the preservation of the Republic, buried almost half a million of men that liberty might not be extinguished, and we looked upon the present army as the remnant of the bronzed and battle-scarred veterans of the old army, encamped in the bosoms of their families with their rifles shining over the mantles—in fact a civic army sleeping on its arms waiting for the call of the Republic. What more glorious object could they have? Who had a better right to watch in peace and guard the country whose preservation cost them so much?

Now, we are informed that in addition to standing to arms at their country's call, they guard and tend to comfort the wives and children of their dead comrades, we take off our hats with reverent admiration to this great body of men.

It is a melancholy fact that nations soon forget the men who die for their preservation. In none others is this disgraceful fact more palpable than in this Republic. The one-armed or one-legged veteran is jostled in our streets as unceremoniously as if he had lost an arm or leg in some drunken brawl or railroad smash up. The very men who fought to destroy the hopes of the world are as much respected—and far more by those who denounce the "Grand Army"—as the men who limp along our streets in ragged blue. Is it not humiliating and demoralizing to a nation to permit its defenders who have become invalided in her service, to beg, as too many poor soldiers are forced to do. If those scarred and crippled men who stand in the midst of the people for whom they fought, are so rudely jarred and their services forgotten, how must it be with the wives and children of the men who are sleeping on the battle-field?

God bless the Grand Army of the Republic who have not forgotten the children of their dead comrades. Their work is glorious and from the bruised hearts of many a saddened household, God is listening to prayers of gratitude for their success. The cry of the widow and the orphans is drowned in the rumble of the heartless world, but the fine ear of the Grand Army can hear the dying words of their comrades rising above the roar of commerce, "protect our children."

Why will such an Organization pause if quasi-loyal journals or men cry "anathema." Rest assured that the loyal people of America feel that the men who saved their country in war will not destroy it in peace. Indeed, while this Grand Army retains its Organization and discipline and preserves that spirit that lit it through the Wilderness, it is not in the power of traitors to destroy the Republic. "Oh, but those fellows are dangerous," cry some Confederate sympathizers. They are dangerous and the enemies of liberty know it. It is this knowledge that makes them pause in their second attempt at the destruction of the nation. Every man whose heart is loyal to Republicanism feels safe, knowing that four hundred thousand of the Grand Army are ready to march again at the call of liberty. We say then "God speed the Grand Army, long may it be the safeguard of the Republic and the terror of those who would destroy the hopes of humanity."

A Field of Blood.

The soil of Bladensburg, Maryland, has a bloody record. It has been the scene of many a duel, murders in days past. One who visits the place now will find the field green with verdure, which a few years since was trampled by the feet of men arrayed in deadly conflict. Here, on a beautiful grassy plot, surrounded by trees, forms made after the image of God came to insult nature and defy heaven.

In 1814, Edward Hopkins was killed here in a duel. This seems to have been the first of these fashionable murders on this dueling ground.

In 1816, A. T. Mason, a United States Senator from Virginia, fought with his sister's husband, John M'Carty. M'Carty was averse to fighting, and thought there was no necessity for it; but Mason would fight. M'Carty loaded muskets loaded with buck-shot, and so near together that they would hit heads if they fell on their faces. This was changed by the seconds to loading with bullets, and taking twelve feet as the distance.—Mason was killed instantly and M'Carty, who had his collar bone broken, still lives with Mason's sister in Georgetown. His hair turned so white soon after the fight, as to cause much comment. He has since been invited to act as second in a duel, but refused in accordance with a pledge made to his wife soon after killing her brother.

In 1821, two strangers, named Loga, and Sega, appeared here, fought, and Sega was instantly killed. The neighbors only learned this much of their names from the marks on the gloves left on the ground. Loga was not hurt.

In 1826, Henry Clay fought his second duel with John Randolph, just across the Potomac, as Randolph preferred to die, if at all, on Virginia soil. The latter received Clay's shot and then fired his pistol in the air. This was in accordance with a declaration made to Mr. Benton, who spoke to Randolph of a call the evening before on Mrs. Clay, and alluded to the quiet sleep of her child and the repose of the mother. Randolph quietly replied, "I shall do nothing to disturb the sleep of the child or the repose of the mother." General Jessop was Clay's second. When Randolph fired he remarked: "I do not shoot at you Mr. Clay," and extending his hand advanced toward Clay, who rushed to meet him. Mr. Randolph showed Clay where the ball struck his coat, and said facetiously, "Mr. Clay, you owe me a coat." "Thank God, the debt is no [illegible]," responded Clay. They were friends ever after.

In 1831, Mantz was killed [illegible] they were from the South.

In 1833, Mr. Key (son of Frank Key, and brother of Philip Barton Key, of Sickles notoriety), met Mr Sherbon, and Sherbon said, "Mr Key, I have no desire to kill you." "No matter," said Key, "I came to kill you." "Very well, then," said Sherbon, "I will now kill you," and he did.

In 1845, a lawyer named Jones fought with and killed a Dr. Johnson.

In 1851, R. A. Hoole and A. J. Dallas had a hostile meeting here. Dallas was shot in the shoulder, but recovered.

In 1853, Daniel and Johnson, two Richmond editors, held a harmless set-to here, which terminated in coffee.

In 1858, Davis and Ridgeway fought here. Ridgeway allowed his antagonist to fire without returning the shot.

JOHN G. WHITTIER.

An erect, spare, venerable looking man, not far from sixty, with striking features, and thin iron grey hair, seated at the long table, that runs through the room, and intently occupied in the examination of some of the many recent books and newspapers with which the table is loaded. His modest necktie, and plain brown coat, with its stiff, upright collar, proclaim him a Quaker, and a glance at his thoughtful face and expansive forehead, shows that he is no other than the most distinguished of living Quakers, John G. Whittier.

Mr. Whittier has been before the public as an author for fully forty years, but, though he is one of the most correct and graceful of prose writers, it is principally by his poetry that he has won distinction. Every one is familiar with his verses, but scarcely any but well read persons are acquainted with his prose, or are even aware that he has written some of the most charming sketches and stories that have emenated from the prose writers of the past half century. Will a volume of these sketches entitled Legends of New England, be made at the age of twenty-three, his first appearance as an author, and it was this volume that first won him celebrity. It was founded on the Indian superstitions of Massachusetts and it displays that intimate knowledge of early New England history which is so observable in Mr. Whittier's poetry.

Whittier's chief works are so well known to our readers that we need not mention their titles here. Next to Longfellow his works have a larger circulation than any of our poets. He is emphatically a self-made writer. His early life was passed on a farm in severe manual labor, and until he was eighteen he had no educational advantages, save such as could be derived from a few winter's attendance on the public schools of his native district. At the age of twenty, however, he had managed to secure two years, tuition at a town academy, but then he left school to work his way in the world, and what he has since learned he has gathered from contact with actual life, or by solitary study in his own library. To this lack of classical culture may doubtless be attributed the charming simplicity of his style, and the peculiar American characters of all his writings.

Mr. Whittier was, we believe, never married, but till within a year, he has been blessed with the most devoted of sisters, who has been his constant companion, ministering to his domestic needs, and sharing his studies.

She was a woman of fine literary taste, and herself wrote some poems that were equal to any of her brother's productions. She died about a year ago, greatly lamented by Mr. Whittier, who has since lived a secluded life in his quiet home in Amesbury.

NOT FIRST IN THE HEARTS OF HIS COUNTRYMEN.—The following paragraph from the Toledo Blade is eminently suggestive:

There are several facts in relation to Andrew Johnson which are peculiarly his own, and, we hope, will be no other man's. He is the first Vice President ever inaugurated drunk; he is the first man who ever became President by assassination; he is the first man who ever vetoed sixteen acts of Congress; he is the first man who ever dared to make himself the constitutional tribunal, and he will be the first President, in all probability, who will go out by impeachment.

J. HERRON FOSTER the senior editor of the Pittsburgh Dispatch died last week at his residence in that city. Mr. Foster has been connected with several newspaper enterprises in Pittsburgh, and was one of the founders of the Dispatch. He was confined to his bed only a day or two previous to his death. Mr. Foster was a vigorous writer, and it was to his energy of character that the Dispatch owed much of the success which attended its publication.

THERE is one sense, and one only, in which the removal of Andrew Johnson can be called a party necessity The Republican party cannot afford to be recreant to its duty. When it loses the courage or the will to do right, it is time for it to die. Its plain duty to the country is to convict the President. The necessity for it to perform that duty is of the same kind which makes it imperative upon every man to obey the Ten Commandments. —N. Y. Tribune.

A NEW HAVEN letter to the Hartford Post says: Gen. Grant can carry Connecticut in November. If legislation can secure us a fair vote, our friends here will be prepared to show just cause for such legislation when the General Assembly meets. With a fair vote the English majority in the State would be a myth, and many persons who have voted for English will vote for Grant. There is no cause for discouragment, even here, while no one doubts that the Grant ticket will be a success in the country.

JUDGE NELSON, of Tennessee, one of the President's counsel addressed the impeachment court on last Thursday, and a more stupendous failure, it is said, was never witnessed in the Senate Chamber. His speech had a marked resemblance to those delivered by A. J., when swinging around the circle, and it is thought in Washington that it was inspired wholly by that soon to-be-turned-out individual himself. The contrast between manager Boutwell's speech the day before and Mr. Nelson's was too striking. Everybody noticed it, and while his associates hung their heads in shame at his stupidity and loose ribaldry, the impeachment managers could do no less than laugh at the ludicrous figure he was then cutting.

THE elections in the Southern States recently held are quite encouraging, and in the main promise well to the Republican party in the future:

Arkansas has adopted a free constitution, elected two United States Senators, three Representatives to Congress, all Republicans and is virtually back into the Union now as a staunch Republican State. Alabama also carried South Carolina, and elected their whole ticket. The new State constitution has been adopted by a majority of between 35 and 40,000. South Carolina was the first State to leave the Union; we are rejoiced to know that she will be among the first to return to it again.

Louisiana, although under rebel rule, has come up on the right side. The new constitution has been ratified, and the whole Republican State ticket elected. Hancock's proscriptive ring in that State, and his rebel elevating tendencies have not been crowned with the success he imagined they would be.

The news from Georgia is not so encouraging. Between the Ku Kluk Klan, and the planters threatening to discharge the colored voters unless they voted the rebel ticket, we lost the State.

Dissensions in our own ranks have caused us to lose North Carolina by a very small majority. When these are healed up, and it is hardly probable that they will continue long, that State will take its place in the Republican column and be as sure to vote right as Vermont.

—Later information goes to show that the first dispatches from North Carolina and Georgia were incorrect, and that the new constitutions and the Republicans have been successful in both of these States.

SENATORS, under the rule, may each occupy fifteen minutes on each separate question, when their verdict on impeachment is considered in secret session. If each member avails himself of this privilege on the floor—as most of the lawyer-Senators and not a few of the others will—thirteen hours, equivalent to at least two daily sessions, might be consumed on each question rising under each Article of the eleven. It is thus within the power of Senators to occupy, if they choose, two or three weeks in disposing of all the Articles. But, fortunately, not every Senator will use his privilege of debate, and the decisions of some of the articles will be governed by the decisive votes upon others. The longest delay will not therefore be looked for, nor will it be safe to rely upon a decision "in a day or two" as expected in some quarters. In this connection, the Philadelphia Press has the following from its correspondent at the Capitol:

I do not pretend to have canvassed the Senate, for such a thing is impossible, but from close observation I have reason to believe that not a single Republican member of that body is willing, even at this day, to repudiate the vote by which they adopted the resolution in answer to the message of the President announcing the removal of Secretary Stanton which resolution, it will be remembered, declared that removal to be illegal. I have carefully obtained the opinions of the so-called doubtful Republican members on this subject, and can announce authoratively the fact that they have not changed their mind since they recorded their votes at that time, after the exhaustive debate of nine hours. It is probable, however, as I have previously intimated, that the Senate will spend a day, if not two days, in consultation before the final vote, during which they will doubtless embrace the opportunity offered to explain their votes on the admissibility of evidence, and for the purpose of making these reasons public they will remove the injunction of secrecy from their deliberations.

THE county convention of the Democratic party met at the Court House in this place on last Monday. Eleven election precincts were not represented at all, viz: Big Beaver, Franklin, M'Guire, Frankfort dist, Harmony, Hopewell, Marion, Patterson, Rochester tp, Baden and New Galilee. The gathering was less enthusiastic than any county convention we ever attended. The following ticket was nominated: For Assembly, John White; For Prosecuting Attorney, Frank Wilson; For Commissioner, Henry Alcorn; For Director of the Poor, J. M. Hindman; For Auditor, John M'Carter; For Trustees of Academy, C. B. Hurst and J. R. Blaine. Mr. White had not been formally announced as a candidate for the Legislature, but was brought forward by the convention in a manner that was grossly insulting to the two gentlemen who had placed themselves before the people as candidates. How this was done will be seen in another column. Worse political treatment than Mr. Hartford and Mr. Hamilton received on last Monday we could hardly imagine. The convention up to this point was dull and lifeless, but now began a little strife that was both interesting and refreshing. Sam B. Wilson and E. B. Daugherty have been the recognized leaders of the Democracy of this county for a number of years. Recently however, Messrs. Kuhn, Odell, Cunningham, Wharton and one or two others, conceived the idea of wresting the leadership from their hands and investing themselves with it. At the time referred to on Monday the Kuhn faction reported a resolution denouncing the libel law of the State, and indirectly endorsing the conduct of the editor of the Local. Mr. Wilson moved to lay this resolution on the table. The Kuhn faction opposed his motion. Fiery speeches were made on both sides.—Odell protested that Mr. Wilson was rapping him (Odell) over the knuckles in opposing the passage of the resolution. Wilson rapped the harder. And now the fate of the resolution was to determine the relative strength of the two factions, and consequently the leadership of the Democracy of the county. A vote was soon taken, and this vote showed 59 in favor of Wilson's motion, and only 9 in favor of the Kuhn-Odell endorsing resolution. The defeat of this resolution in eans a repudiation of the course heretofore pursued by the editor of the Local. It has that significance, and in addition it indicates very clearly that the party looks upon Messrs Wilson & Daugherty as its leaders still, and votes that they shall not be exchanged for new and untried men. To use a very common phrase, Messrs. Kuhn-Odell & Co. were most effectually "cleaned out" on last Monday by their own party in this county.

THE impeachment trial is moving slowly on. Boutwell, Stevens and Williams have made speeches on the part of the managers and Nelson and Groesbeck for the defence. Groesbeck's address to the Senate was looked upon as very able and dignified, and we presume he said about the best that could be said in favor of his client. The speech making will hardly be concluded this week, owing to the fact that the Senate resolved a few days ago to permit all to speak who desired, [illegible] week, however, the trial will surely close and that the President will be convicted and deposed is now conceded by nearly every person.

THE President a few days ago withdrew the name of Thomas Ewing of Ohio as secretary of War, and sent Gen. Schofield's name to the Senate for confirmation as War Secretary. This, it is understood, is done without Gen. Schofield's knowledge or consent and is supposed to be an attempt on the part of the President to induce a few Republican Senators to vote in his favor when the question of his conviction is to be determined.—Gen. Schofield is a "radical," and in the instance here referred to, the President is simply throwing a "tub to the whale."

BRITISH statistics show that in England, while the poor marry, the well-to-do avoid marriage to such an extent that two woman in every five of the whole number of English woman are unmarried, and the total of these unmarried amounts to the great number of 1,527,000. In London, forty-one per cent of the women of marriageable age are spinsters, and in five English counties there are forty-five per cent.

THE recent election in Wisconsin, in which the Republicans have made a handsome gain over last year, is the last warning to Senator Doolitle to get ready to follow his Johnsonian friend, Senator Dixon, to the shades of private life. Both of these men, had they remained true to their professions, would have been gladly continued in the Senate, and might have been among the most useful members of that body. But in an evil hour they listened to temptation and fell, probably never to rise again. Even had the Democrats carried the Connecticut Legislature, they would have superseded Dixon with English—it being the general Democratic policy to use traitors rather than to reward them. In fact, the fates do not seem to be favorable to the Johnson Senators as a body. Besides the two we have mentioned, Senator Johnson, of Maryland, has been set aside for a man of narrower copperhead type; and Messrs. Hendricks, of Indiana, and Norton, of Minnesota, and Patterson, of Tennessee, are morally sure of being dropped as soon as their respective State Legislatures have the privilege of passing upon their claims.

THE trial of Gen. Cole for the murder of Mr. Hiscock at Albany, N. Y., about one year ago, is progressing at that place at the present time. It will be recollected that Cole and Hiscock were personal friends for a number of years, and while the former was in the army, Hiscock seduced his wife. Shortly after Cole ascertained this, he shot Hiscock, killing him almost instantly. In the trial of the case, the defence are attemping to prove Gen. Cole to have been of insane mind at the time of the commission of the deed, resulting from injuries received while serving in the Union army.

From the prominence of the parties, and their previous good standing, the trial is eliciting a wide-spread interest. It will probably be concluded this week.

A MRS. KECKLEY, the confidential servant of Mrs. Jeff Davis, and afterwards standing in the same relation to Mrs. Lincoln, has published a book, entitled "Behind the Scenes." Mrs. Keckley is a colored woman and her book is said to be intensely interesting.

ED. ARGUS: John White, of Darlington, was nominated for Assembly by the Democratic Convention on Monday, notwithstanding his name had not been announced, and notwithstanding Odell, Dr. Hamilton and Hartford, desired the nomination. Odell, we believe, received no votes, and consequently it is fair to presume, that no considerable number of the Democratic party of the county indorsed the views of his correspondent, whose pressing letter induced him to be a candidate. Hartford was so generally deemed unworthy of the nomination that he received few votes, and was plainly told by the chairman of the convention that a better man was wanted. Dr. Hamilton was treated very shabbily. He came into the convention with more votes than was necessary to nominate him, and was actually nominated and on the first ballot received one more vote than was necessary. For some reason it was determined he should not be nominated, and to prevent his nomination Darlington township was called, and voted twice for White to prevent a nomination on first ballot. The President of the convention then said Dr. Hamilton was not the man that should be nominated, and that White would get more votes, and he therefore withdrew his name. As Dr. Hamilton was not present and it was not done before the balloting commenced, of course it was arbitrary authority. Mr. White who was a delegate, and Vice President of the convention, voted every time for his own nomination, his township casting a full vote for him. An instance of his remarkable modesty! If it is not the first time in the history of conventions that a man publicly voted for his own nomination we are greatly mistaken. It certainly will impress intelligent voters greatly in his favor. The defeated candidates who were so politely told they were not fit and were not wanted, will doubtless relish Mr. White's modesty and his respect for them. FAIR PLAY.

Meeting of the Homœopathic Institute of Beaver Co. Pa.

Pursuant to a call for organizing this association, a number of homœpathic physicians from different parts of the County, met at the office of Drs Parker and Wallace, in Rochester, 1 P. M., April 18th, A. D. 1868.

The meeting was called to order and its object briefly stated by Dr. Wendt, of New Brighton, who moved that Dr. Parker be chosen Chairman, which motion was carried unanimously.

On motion of Dr. Nippert, Dr. Wallace was appointed Secretary.

A committee of two was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws. Said committee reported a plan of organization, which, after due consideration and some discussion, was adopted and the committee discharged.

On motion of Dr. Wallace,

Resolved That we now proceed to the election of officers, by ballot. Which resulted as follows;

President—Dr. G. T. Parker.
Vice President—Dr. Wendt.
Secretary—Dr. T. C. Wallace.
Treasurer—Dr. Nippert.
Censors—Drs. Wallace, Wendt, & Nippert.

Dr. Parker, on taking the chair, congratulated the members of the profession on the formation of a county organization under such favorable auspices, and expressed his satisfaction at the interest manifested.

On motion of Dr. Wallace, a committee of three was appointed to draft a code of Ethics to govern the association, the committee to report at the regular meeting. The Chair appointed Drs. Wallace, Wendt and Boardman, said committee.

On motion of Dr. Wendt, Drs. Wallace, Boardman and Wendt were appointed a committee to report a fee bill at the next regular meeting.

On motion of Dr. Nippert, it was resolved that the next meeting of the Institute be held at the National Hotel, in Beaver, on Tuesday, July 21st.

The following committees were appointed to report on scientific subjects at the next meeting.

Obstetrics—Dr. Wendt.
Meningitis Spinalis—Dr. Nippert.
Homœpathy—Dr. Boardman.
Surgery—Dr. Wallace.

Whereupon the meeting adjourned.

The Connecticut Election.

The Boston Transcript publishes a letter from a leading Connecticut Republican which says:

Another election is over, and this time we remain in possession of the field. Of course the Democrats make a great noise about the success of their State ticket, but they are whipped and they know it. When I tell you that in Connecticut a Governor's veto can be overridden by a bare majority—and that we have a majority of 22 in the House and 3 in the Senate, (11 in the House and 1 in the Senate last year,)—you will understand how little the success of their State ticket really amounts to. The real fight was for the United State Senator. The Copperheads relied on large fraudulent accessions to their vote in the large cities and towns. Their real work work was done in the close country towns. In this contest, without money, we should have been whipped to a certainty. We have the prize most to be desired—a United States Senator. This was the game which English was playing, and he spent a fortune this spring only to find that he had lost. Count on us for Grant next fall.

Female Gamblers.

The Washington Chronicle makes what seems to be a startling expose of one of the peculiar features of society at the national capital. It says: "There are two fashionable gambling houses, both within half dozen squares of the Treasury building, which are exclusively for the use of ladies. One, and perhaps the best furnished and most largely frequented, is situated on Fourteenth street, while the other is in the First ward a few squares distant. At these places, at nearly all hours of the day, may be found richly dressed ladies, connected with families whose standing is high in the community, earnestly engaged in faro, and staking their money with an abandon that would excite surprise. The sterner sex is rigidly excluded. We are at present unable to obtain other than the above particulars. It is rumored that a certain divorce case, now pending in the District Court, is attributable, in a measure, to the squandering of a husband's money on the tables of one of these places, Mme. Rumor placing the amount of the losses as high as fifty thousand dollars."

THE Democracy are rejoicing over what they call a victory in Georgia and the prospect of one in North Carolina. Considering that the result shuts these States out from participating in the Presidential election, and deprives the Democracy of their help, when the victors come to think about it they must conclude that the victory is most decidedly qualified. So long as the States continue to vote themselves out, in a party sense they but blot of their own noses—to which we as Republicans cannot seriously object.—Pitts Com.

CHICAGO elects a majority of Republican Councilmen, but gives 900 majority for a Democratic Judge. The total vote was some four thousand less than in '64, the falling off counting as usual on the Republican side. Of this result the Tribune says:

"The lesson of this day will not be lost on the Republicans of Chicago. They will now understand the nature of the work they have to do to carry the city next fall. Chicago is a Republican city of four thousand majority on a full vote, and the Presidential contest will develop the fact."

The New Railroad Law of Pennsylvania.

By the free railroad act, that became a law in Pennsylvania a few days ago, any number of citizens not less than nine may form company for the purpose of constructing or running a railroad wherever one may be needed throughout the State, except within the limits of any incorporated city, in which case a special charter is required. To prevent the misuse of this general authority and permission by irresponsible parties, the prospectus of each new company, and the names of its officers and incorporators shall be filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, when ninetenths of the capital stock, of which $10,000 per mile of the proposed road is the legal minimum, shall have been subscribed in good faith, and secured by the collection of 10 per cent of the subscription. When this statement, properly attested, shall have been acknowledged by the Secretary of State, the company shall possess the following powers and privileges under the new act:

First: To have succession by its corporate name for the period limited in its articles of association.

Second: To sue and be sued, complain and defend, in any court of law or equity.

Third: To make and use a common seal, and alter the same at pleasure.

Fourth: To hold, purchase, and convey such real and personal estate as the purposes of the corporation shall require, not exceeding the amount limited in the articles of association.

Fifth: To appoint subordinate officers and agents as the business of the corporation shall require, and to allow them a suitable compensation.

Sixth: To make by-laws not inconsistent with any existing law for the management of its property and regulation of its affairs, and for the transfer of its stock.

By this they are authorized to carry into effect the objects named in their prospectus as fully as any corporation created by special act of the Legislature; and such companies are entitled to all the rights and privileges, and are subjected to all the restrictions and liabilities granted or imposed in the old railroad law of February 19, 1849. Thus chartered, the companies are required to complete and open the first 50 miles of the road within five years; six month more being allowed for each additional 25 miles. Branch roads, connecting with the main line, are also authorized under this act; and when the directors of two companies cannot agree on mutually satisfactory terms respecting the junction of the roads, the Court of Common Pleas of the District in which the connection is to be made shall have the final arbitration of the question. This is a brief sketch of the principal features of the new law, in most essential particulars similar to that of New York. Unrestricted competition is always better than favored monopolies such as the Camden and Amboy of New Jersey is and the Pennsylvania Central was, and it would be well if every State in the Union would follow the example of New York and Pennsylvania, granting a right of way to all who choose to avail themselves of its privileges and comply with its requirements.

Hon. B. F. Wade Threatened.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Hon. Benj. F. Wade received the following anonymous letter this morning, post-marked Winchester, Kentucky, April 17. I copy, verbatim et literatim:

Ben. Wade, Hon. (so called)

This communication is to notify you that you are marked and watched by the K. K. K., & that should you and your infamous associates succeed in your fanatical & selfish design of foisting yourself as so called President on an unwilling people by actual force, that your fate will be, before ONE MONTH, that of "the late lamented A. L." You may not heed this warning, but go your course, and your fate is sealed by a bullet by 8 S. K. K. K. Eyes are on your track that never sleep, and this will be your portion. Thad. Stevens is doomed. General Grant is watched also. You think yourself in security, but there is a vengeance awaiting you three grand conspirators. As for Butler, the K. K. K. of New Orleans will take him in charge at the proper time, and his portion will also be a bullet. An indignant people will no longer bear what you demons in human shape are preparing for them. Go on, and you will see whether the 8 S. K. K. K. will lie. Be warned in time.

By order of the Grand Commander of the K. K. K.

W. C. C. K., April 14, 1868. 8 S. K. K. K.

THE Democracy never care for expense when they have an object in view. For instance, the Democracy of the Ohio Legislature have concluded all the business proceedings of that body—there is no business before it waiting action, but in order to make capital, the Democratic majority which controls it, is determined to aid in the defence of Andrew Johnson, by remaining in session to defend that villian in case he is impeached. It is inferred that Ohio intends to call out an army to assist in keeping Andrew Johnson in the White House. They say they are awaiting the action of the Impeachment Court, at the expense to the people of Ohio, of one thousand five hundred dollars per day! This is a specimen of Democratic retrenchment of public expenses promised before the last State election.—Chambersburg Repository

It is proposed by some of the friends and neighbors of Frederick Douglass to run him for Congress, whereat the followers of Morrissey and Wood style of Democracy almost burst with indignation. We have nothing to do with the matter particularly, but we know Mr. Douglass to be a perfectly respectable man and that he has few superiors as a speaker and thinker. As to Morrissey and Wood the two shining lights of Democracy, if they are not professional gamblers, and are not all that professional gamblers usually are, then common fame greatly slanders them. But they are white, while he is a negro—therefore it is extremely Democratic to shower honors on them and spit upon him.

GEN. MEAD has become the object of Copperhead abuse. He has escaped, however, longer than he has any right to expect. When the President selected him to succeed Gen. Pope, it was doubtless expected that he would assist in defeating the policy of Congress But like a true soldier he has done his duty; and furthermore, the Southern sun, under which he has lived for the last four months, has pretty thoroughly bleached out of him whatever conservatism there was in him. Because he has not served the President, he is charged with seeking to obtain the favor of Congress, in order to get through a claim in which his father, now deceased, had an interest. Except Hancock, not a Union General of any distinction but stands by Congress, and enjoys the advantage of being abused by the Copperheads.

THE Rev. J. H. Caldwell writes to the Methodist the result of his observations in Georgia as to the infamous Ku-Klux Klan.—He corroborates the worst representations we have had of them, and says terrorism prevails in many parts of the South. Union men everywhere are in danger, and some of them have been compelled to flee to places of safety. He says:

"A sweet spirited, deeply pious, and inoffensive Christian minister, with a small but respectable flock under his charge, has been compelled to flee from a Christian city in free America, as if it were a land of savages, under the apprehension of personal violence—from a city so lately stained with the blood of one of the martyrs of liberty."

ITS CAUSES, CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND RESULTS.
By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.
A Book for all Sections and all Parties.

THIS GREAT WORK PRESENTS THE ONLY complete and impartial analyses of the Causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

To a public that has been surfeited with apparently similar productions, we promise a change of fare, both agreeable and salutary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid, and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The intense desire everywhere manifested to obtain this work, its Official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission make it the best subscription book ever published.

A New Livery Stable.—Powers' livery stable, in Rochester, which was recently destroyed with fire, is being replaced with a much larger and finer one.—The new stable will be ready for use in May next.

The Glass House.—The glass house, in Bridgewater, this county, which ceased operations some time ago, for the purpose of undergoing a thorough re-fitting, has again resumed work.

Thomas Nicholson, of Beaver county, a member of the last Legislature, serving on the Committee of Ways and Means, was presented at the adjournment of the House, with a magnificent gold headed cane.—Chambersburg Repository.

The Town Council—Its Appointments.—The new Town Council has organized by the appointment of J. S. Frazier as President, and.....as Secretary.

The Council also appointed James Allison, Esq., as Borough Treasurer, and Sam'l. Dinsmore as Street Commissioner.

By referring to another column in this paper, it will be seen that Drs. Marquis and Cunningham—the former of Rochester, and the latter of this place—have entered a partnership and opened a medical office near the depot in Rochester, this county. The afflicted in this vicinity should give the new firm a chance to demonstrate their professional skill.

Concert and Lecture.—An amateur concert, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society, was held in the School Hall, in New Brighton, on the evening of April 22d, and proved to be a good affair.

Also, last Monday evening, F. J. Newton delivered a lecture in the Town Hall, New Brighton, on the subject of "Life in Hindostan." It is said that the lecture was quite a success.

The River.—The stage of water in the river at present is very favorable for boating. The tow boats are running briskly, towing coal to points below, and business has livened up considerably about the wharves. During the latter part of last week, a great many lumber rafts passed down the river.

Fishing.—The fishing mania which comes annually about this time of year, prevails to a considerable extent in this neighborhood. Last Saturday a great many lads and young men could be seen on the river bank attending to their lines. The day being quite chilly, fires were started, and the fishermen were gathered around them waiting for a "bite," and "roasting their bones" in the meantime. The turn out of fish is not very heavy, owing probably to "facts unknown."

A Large Flock of Ducks.—Last Saturday, after the rain, a large flock of wild ducks made their appearance on the river. In a short time after their arrival skiffs went out and the flock was attacked from several points, and dispersed. The flock numbered, perhaps, two hundred, and how many were "killed, wounded and missing," we do not know.

A "Gusher" Well.—The oil well, at the mouth of Brady's Run, in this county, which has been deserted for a long time, all hopes of finding oil being abandoned, has for a long time past and still continues to throw water out of the tubing with great force. The water is strongly impregnated with oil, and at times the puffs of gas are so powerful as to throw water a distance of fifteen or twenty feet in the air.

The Tom Thumb Exhibition.—The exhibition given by this troupe on last Thursday afternoon and evening, at Rochester, was a decided success.—The Hall was not near large enough to accommodate all who wished to hear and see these world-wide wonders. The entertainment given by the little company was quite interesting. From Rochester they went to Wellsville, Ohio.

Cadet Appointed.—We are pleased to learn that Edward, son of Mrs. Beacom, of this place, has been appointed a cadet at the military academy at West Point. The appointment was obtained through Hon. Geo. V. Lawrence, the Representative in Congress from this district. We are led to believe that young Mr. Beacom has "found his vocation," and will pass through the leading military institution of the country with credit to himself and the district he will represent.

The Fruit Prospect.—It is said by some of our most experienced practical fruit growers, who have made a close examination of the trees, that there will be a great many blossoms this year, and that the prospect of a large crop of fruit is very flattering.—Especially is this said to be the case with the stoned fruit, such as plums, cherries, &c. Blossoms are the prelude of fruit; therefore, if this prediction comes true, as we hope it will, there will be fruit in abundance. But even after the trees are covered with blossoms, the dangers to be encountered are only half past. If there is any difference, the frosts, and cold weather are less to be feared, than the many tribes of insects which infests the orchards through the summer.

Temperance Lectures.—There will be a temperance lecture delivered in the Bridgewater M. E. Church on Thursday eve, April 30, by Mr. Wm. Nicholson, of Philadelphia.

The same gentleman will also deliver a temperance lecture at the Court House, in Beaver, on the evening following, (Friday).

And the succeeding evening (Saturday) he will deliver one in Rochester.

Lectures free.

A False Report.—The story that five Irish recruits at the Carlisle Barracks held a meeting, and drew up and endorsed resolutions sustaining poor Andy in his rebellious acts, is not altogether true.—There was only one Irishman, and an ex-rebel soldier, who by some means got into the United States Army, making two recruits in all. And this patriotic (?) couple drew up the infamous resolutions and sent them to a certain Democratic sheet in Carlisle, who published them in their peculiar style, as the sentiments of the "rank and file." We doubt whether either of them can vote, unless it be with coffee colored paper. Tremendous reinforcements!—Chambersburg Repository.

A Disgusting Sight.—Coming up from Dodge water, on last Thursday, we passed two men, one woman and a little boy, the latter some six or seven years of age. The men and woman were in a beastly state of intoxication, and were quarreling when we saw them about the possession of the vessel containing the "Bonifire." They were Irish, and they abused it as only they well could be. With the exception of the little boy, the whole party should have been arrested and taken to jail. The person who sold them the "strychnine" should also have been looked up and made to suffer severely for selling liquor to persons of their character.

—Since writing the above we have learned some additional particulars concerning this drunken trio. The men operate, themselves in the suburbs of the village in this vicinity, while the woman goes from house to house begging a "little money to take her and her child to Chicago." She adds that her "husband is dead" and she is a poor widow trying to get out west where she has some relatives living. In this manner she manages to get a good deal of change, after which she joins her male confederates and the three then have a regular old fashioned drunk. They have gone through the people of nearly all the towns of this county in this way. Why do not the constables interfere and protect the public from this species of swindling?

The Wheat Prospect in this County.—Accounts from all sections of the county, and especially on the other side of the river, represent the growing wheat crop as looking very promising indeed. The growing grain has been protected during the severe winter, by the beds of snow, and what is now wanting to, bring it forward finely, is the warm sun and rains of this and the following months. It is said that the wheat has not presented so favorable an appearance for many years on the south side of the river. The growing crop of rye does not receive such favorable reports, though that which was sowed early is doing very well.

An Organ "Galloping" into Favor.—A most remarkable piece of musical mechanism, in the shape of an organ, representing the voz humana, (human voice,) is creeping, or rather galloping, into public favor. It is known as the "Burdett Organ," whose tones, no not tones merely or abstractly considered as such, but whose utterances are made to excite almost any emotion of the human heart, whether of joy or of sorrow, at the will of the performer, and cause the listener to wonder how it lives without eating and drinking like human beings. Those enterprising gentlemen, H. Kleber & Bro., 123 Wood street, Pittsburgh, have it for sale, and would be pleased to exhibit to those who desire to witness its powers, the wonderful capacity it possesses to inspire our minds, stir our hearts, and mingle its tender and touching sympathies with those of the human breast. It is said that one gentleman, on visiting this amazing specimen of human invention, for the second time, so far forgot himself that he actually addressed it—"Good morning, Madame!"—Eastern exchange paper. [apr 1:6t.

Editor Argus:—I accidentally saw a copy of last week's Local, and in it I found this editorial paragraph:

THE Argus says it has a larger circulation than any other paper in the county. If it does not lie, why did a leading Radical of Beaver, who knows what the Argus circulation is, refuse, a few days since, to accept the $50 wager of a Copperhead that the Local had double the circulation of the Argus? The Radical first made the banter that the Argus had the largest circulation. That was accepted and the Rad. backed.—Copperhead then offered to bet that the Local had double the circulation. Rad. again backed out. Is any body willing to bet that the Argus's circulation exceeds 700?

If there is any truth in the above story at all it means that some cop. is willing to wager $50 that the Local has double the circulation of the Argus, and also that the editor of the Local wishes to bet that the Argus's circulation does not exceed 700 copies per week.

Now, I am not what the world would call a "betting man," but I happen to be on "the make" at the present time, and therefore will accept both of the above propositions. If, then, the Copperhead referred to by the Local wishes to wager $50 that the Local's circulation is double that of the Argus, let him meet me at Jack Clark's store at 7 P. M. to-morrow evening (Thursday). And if the editor of the Local desires to wager $50 that the Argus's circulation does not exceed 700 copies per week, let him also attend there at that time. Or if either or both wish to wager $50 that the Argus's circulation does not exceed 1,400 copies per week (it may be 2,000 per week for aught I know) I will take that bet also. The money to be deposited in any responsible man's hands, and the Argus subscription book to be examined by two reliable men, one from each party. Let there be no disappointment. I mean work. J. B.

The following commendatory notice is clipped from a well-known journal, the Harrisburg Telegraph, and by reading it, it will be seen that Forepaugh's circus & Menagerie is no common one, and will well reward the attendance of amusement-loving people. It will make its appearance at Beaver on the 11th of next month, (May,) and we advise folks to look out for it:

Forepaugh's Mammoth Circus and Menagerie, which is advertised in another column, will make its first appearance in this city Saturday, April 18, and remain but one day.

This popular combination needs but a simple announcement to create a furore among the amusement-going people. It is unquestionably the largest, the most gorgeous and sensational, in its entirety, of all the traveling exhibitions in the country. Adam Forepaugh, though comparatively a new man in the managerial department of the profession, has hit upon the right plan to succeed. He gives his agents strict injunctions not to place upon the bills a single feature, either in the equestrian or zoological departments, which is not legitimate, and which is not actually to be witnessed every day under his colossal pavilion. In other words, he performs everything he advertises, depending entirely for success upon the bona fide merits of his great exhibition. Actuated by this principle, and it must henceforth be the standard in this country, the people too often having been the willing dupes of third rate mountebank shows, advertising four times as much as they perform, Mr. Forepaugh's travels last year through the Eastern States was a perfect triumph of success. The same leading features, with an accession of new and interesting ones, sufficient to make a single show of itself, are still maintained, to add to the brilliancy and splendor of a combination never before equalled on this continent. We bespeak for it a hearty reception.

Episcopal Services.—We are authorized to announce that the Rev. Karcher, Rector of the Episcopal Church in Rochester, will conduct religious services on Sunday, May 3d, at 4 p. m., at Wynn's Hall.—The public are cordially invited to be present.

Phrenological Lectures.—Prof. Franklin delivered a lecture in the Court House in this place on last Saturday evening on the science of phrenology.—On Monday afternoon, Monday evening, Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday evening, he delivered additional lectures. He exhibits a baby, two years and a half old, covered with hair. This child is of Southern birth and parentage, and is quite a curiosity. We are sorry to say that very disgraceful order prevailed during the lecture on Saturday evening. Better order prevailed during the subsequent lectures.

The New Orleans Tribune, said to be the only daily paper in the United States owned and edited by negroes, and the only one thus conducted in the South, has suspended for want of support. It supported Tall aferro for Governor and the Native State ticket, and consequently was deprived of all official patronage. The Picayune passes a high compliment on the ability, skill and integrity of its management.

E. R. Phillips, a special Treasury agent, in St. Louis, was assaulted on the street in that city on the night of the 16th inst., by two men, who knocked him down with a slung shot and beat him very badly.—Phillips states that about three weeks previous to the attack he had pointed out the distilleries of Wright & Co., and D. C. Freeman, to Gen. Burbridge, a Treasury agent just arrived from Washington, as having been reported by him to the authorities at Washington. These distilleries were subsequently seized by orders from Washington. A short time afterwards Phillips was offered ten thousand dollars and a place in the whisky ring to compromise, which he declined. He was then told his life was in danger, and a night or two afterwards he was assaulted. The distillers were subsequently released at a cost to the owners, it is said, of $35,000. Phillips thinks the design was to kill him.

On the 4th of this month the Odd Fellows of Rhode Island celebrated the forty-ninth anniversary of the order.

Union Republican County Convention.—The Union Republican voters of Beaver County are requested to meet at the usual places of holding elections in the several Boroughs and Townships, on SATURDAY, THE 30TH DAY OF MAY, 1868, and appoint Delegates to a county Convention, to be held on

"The Fire Caught in the Roof."

Yes, it caught in the roof and the building was consumed!

How often do we hear this expression, in giving the origin of a destructive fire. "It caught in the roof!" How many thousands and tens of thousands of beautiful, stately, and costly buildings have been destroyed by fires which "caught in the roof."

In the first instance, perhaps, the fire originated in some dry old shop or shanty, the sparks, cinders and burning brands from which, rising in the air and carried abroad by the wind, have been the means of destroying half a town, by coming in contact with the dry, tinder-like, shingle or wooden roofs of the buildings; and again, how many hundreds of instances are recorded where a single building—especially if the body were of brick or stone—provided with a fire proof roof has passed unscathed through a conflagration that consumed everything around and adjoining it, and stood forth solitary and alone, amidst the blackened ruins, "like patience on a monument smiling at grief."

Did any one ever hear of an instance in which the "fire caught in the roof," where that roof was covered with slate instead of wooden shingles? Never! Why, then, not avoid this hazard, by slating your roofs instead of covering them with wooden shingles? Two answers are usually given to this latter question: first, that slate is more expensive, and secondly, that, where the sides of the house are of wood, instead of brick or stone, slate would not protect the building, the fire, say the slate objectors, being as liable to catch at the sides as on the roof.

To answer the first of these objections, touching the comparative expenses, suppose you cover your roof with the very best quality of slate in the United States, which is said to be that furnished from the celebrated mines of Northampton county, Pa., by the "Twin City Slate Mining and Manufacturing Company, whose office is at No. 43 Seventh Street, Pittsburgh, what will it cost you? Only $12 per one hundred square feet, according to the Company's circular.—Now figure up the cost of an ordinary shingle roof, and you'll find that, including the expense of laying on, the slate roof costs barely 25 per cent more than the shingle roof, while, besides being more sightly in appearance than the shingle roof, it saves insurance, is imperishable, and being entirely fire-proof, inspires a feeling of security, and a consequent freedom from that anxiety, based upon a constant apprehension of danger from fire, that the occupant never experiences while reposing under a dry wooden roof, and especially at a moment when a high wind is carrying sparks and cinders over the whole town or neighborhood.

In answering the second objection to slate-roofing—wooden-sided house, because the fire would be as likely to catch at the sides as on the roof, we would observe, that a moment's reflection must satisfy any one that there is no force whatever in such an argument; because, should a fire-brand fall upon a slated roof, and roll off, it would not stop half way down, to kindle a fire. It would, if not obstructed in its descent by adjoining buildings, fall quite to the ground, and, in most cases, die out without doing any damage. The same would be the case where the cinders fell between the buildings in the first instance.

In short, no argument in favor of a wooden roof as against a slate roof, even on the score of expense, can stand a moment, and the wonder with us has always been, why any man, of common prudence, should erect a costly mansion or other building, and then cover the top all over with dry kindling wood, to invite destruction from any stray floating spark in the air that may chance to light upon it, from a burning chimney, or a neighboring conflagration.

We have written this article as precaution to builders and house owners, and not for the mere purpose of extolling any particular State-furnishing establishment, though we confess it was suggested by a circumstance which brought our attention to the celebrity, as well as the excellence and cheapness of the house-roofing slate of the enterprising Company of whom we have made mention above, and whose business office, as before observed, is at No. 43 Seventh Street, Pittsburgh, where we advise every one who is about to build, or is desirous of securing his present buildings against fire, to call, and be convinced of the expediency of using slate instead of shingles as a safe-guard and protection against the loss of his property by this dangerous and devouring element.—Brownsville Clipper.

The Beaver County Poor House.—A recent examination of this premises has continued the belief that it always has, under the excellent supervision of Mr. Shrodes and wife, been kept in very good order. Indeed fault cannot be found by any but those who bear personal ill will toward the steward or his family.

The total number of paupers at present sojourning at the Poor House, is forty-seven; of these twenty-five are females. During the last winter, the number of paupers increased to sixty; the cold weather accounts for this; travelers and castaways in the county being driven to this place for shelter. The greater part of the female portion of the dependents are able to do light work, and are pretty generally kept busy. Their work consists principally in keeping themselves and their own rooms in order, and taking care of those who are unable to do for themselves. A great many of the male lodgers are also capable of doing work, and find plenty of it to do. There has been very little sickness among the paupers during the last year, and at present they all enjoy very good health. The buildings are all kept clean and well ventilated.—At the Poor House, the early garden is one of the main features; this is a thing that is necessary any place, but far more so at a place of this kind, where there are so many to board, and is a means of saving much to the county. Considering all things, it is evident that ours is not at all an expensive Poor House or burthensome to the county, when compared with asylums of the same kind and capacity in other counties.

Special Notices.

See one of the Prize Cups awarded to A. Speer for his celebrated Port Grape Wine. It is the best grape wine ever produced in this country, the standard wine for communion purposes, and the most beneficial for invalids and weakly persons. [1y.

CONSUMPTION.

Notwithstanding the many quackes advertised to cure Consumption, we do not believe when seated too long it can be cured. But we do know of hundreds of cases where persons were supposed to be suffering under that fatal disease, who have become perfectly well and robust from the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine. Many times people for years waste and at last die from disease of the kidneys or glands, when they were supposed to have and were treated for Consumption. A long-continued affection of the kidneys, however, may eventually result in Consumption. Speer's wine, used alone, or taken with a fresh raw egg, or new milk, daily, has been found to be an excellent remedy, and has the reputation of rendering a perfect cure for Consumption.—Mardell Tattler.

The wine certainly contains valuable properties, let our physicians and invalids try it. To be had of druggists. [2t.

If anything looks more dirty and disgusting than a coat covered with dandruff, it is certainly not known to modern society. Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" will effectually eradicate dandruff in a single thorough application. To this valuable preparation was awarded the only prize medal ever bestowed on any compound for the hair.—Poughkepsie Press.

JEWELRY, WATCHES, &c.—One of the finest and handsomest buildings on the Broadway of Pittsburgh, is the new store of Messrs. Reineman, Meyran & Seidle, located at No. 49 Fifth street, and the beauty of the store room and its furnishing, we are certain is only equalled by the variety and magnificence of the stock of goods now on hand. We are confident that we never saw anything equalling the goods this enterprising firm has brought to Pittsburgh. Read their card and pay the house a visit.

The undersigned has opened a tailor shop on Third street, in Beaver, in the room just across the alley from Moore's Drug store. I have a stock of goods on hand which I will make up on short notice. Terms reasonable. Give me a call.

ROCHESTER FOUNDRY,

ANDERSON, ARBUCKLE & CO.

MANUFACTURERS OF MACHINE CASTINGS: Railway Track and Car Castings, Agricultural Implements, Engine and all other Castings made at a first class Foundry. Also, Stoves, Grate Fronts, Grate Bars, Liners Sash Weights, Hollow-Ware, Kettles, Iron Fence, and all other Castings called for, on short notice and of the very best metal.

Also, J. J. Anderson's justly celebrated New Cook Stove for Coal and Wood, which took the

First Premium

At the State Fair recently held at Pittsburgh. This Stove combines many new and important principles, which place it far in advance of all others now in use. Some of the merits claimed for it by the Inventor, are Heavy Metal, Well Proportioned, Beauty of Style and Finish, Ease of Draft, Easily Kept Clean, Requires but little Fuel, and the BEST BAKER EXTANT.

All orders thankfully received and promptly filled.

We Call Attention to the Following Statements:

While living in the East I used several of the most Celebrated Cooking Stoves made in that part of the country, and on my arrival here, I was recommended to purchase the Crystal Palace Stove, (also invented by Mr. Anderson) as being the best. I did so, and used it with good satisfaction. When I saw Mr. Anderson's new Stove, I was attracted by its neat appearance, and on examining its Oven and interior arrangements, found it possessed many advantages over all I had seen. I purchased, and have one now in use. We consider it superior to any we have ever used. It is all the Inventor claims, and we think, all that could be desired in a Cooking Stove.

CAPT. GILBERT PENDLETON.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 21st.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse Capt. Pendleton's statement.

JOHN H. WHISLER.

Having one of Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse the above recommendation.

J. WOODRUFF.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, we are fully satisfied with its good qualities in all respects.

JOSEPH IRVIN AND WIFE.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 25th.

Having kept house for a long time, and used a great number of Cook Stoves of different patterns and styles, I consider Mr. J. Anderson's new Stove, in point of economy in fuel, ready cooking and baking for its size, superior to any we have used, and cheerfully recommend it, believing it will render entire satisfaction.

CHAS. LUKINS.

We have one of Mr. J. J. Anderson's new Stoves, manufactured at the Rochester Foundry, and having given it a fair trial, we find it comes fully up to all that has been claimed for it. It heats very rapidly, takes but little fuel, and is a most excellent baker. Mr. Anderson may congratulate himself on having achieved quite a triumph in the line of Cooking Stoves.

Very respectfully,

Beaver, Nov. 23d, 1867. J. B. BRACKEN.

Ruby Cooking Stove Nos. 7, 8 & 9.

THIS STOVE TOOK THE FIRST PREMIUM AT the State Fair as a Coal Cooking Stove, and also at the late County Fair. We use no scrap iron in their manufacture, but make them exclusively of No. 1 Pig Metal, and warrant them in every respect.

The Ruby has the largest oven in the market and consumes but little fuel in baking, owing to to our improved Grate.

GRATE FRONTS AND FENDERS.

We are largely engaged in the manufacture of Grate Fronts and Fenders, which we enamel in an oven common, second quality and fine finish. This enamel retains its lustre for a long time, will not burn off, and makes a much superior finish to that of Coal Tar.

SUMMER PIECES.

We are also making Sheet Iron Summer Pieces (for which we have applied for a patent) pressed up in a Hydraulic press. They are much lighter than cast iron, and much cheaper.

HEATING STOVES.

We claim the heaviest heating Stove in the market for the size, and use the best Stock in their construction.

Our patterns are not yet complete, but it is our intention to keep a general assortment in our line.

We also took the Premium at the County Fair for Castings generally, and we have entered to fit the builders with the determination to use the best of Pig Metal and make good work.

We respectfully request a share of the public patronage, and would be pleased to see those wanting anything in our line at our woks.
